DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Edward Bulchis on 07/12/07.

The application has been amended as follows:

As per claim 36:

A method for performing signal timing testing on a memory system having a memory hub coupled to a plurality of memory devices, the method comprising: generating corresponding testing signals in the memory hub; coupling the corresponding testing signals from the memory hub to the memory devices while varying the relative timing between when the corresponding testing signals are applied to the memory devices over a range of relative timing; generating output signals in the memory devices resulting from the testing signals; coupling the output signals from the memory devices to the memory hub; and evaluating the output signals in the memory hub to determine if the memory devices properly responded to the testing signals.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record does not teach the following limitations:

The present invention includes a method for performing signal timing testing on a memory system having a memory hub coupled to a plurality of memory devices, the method comprising: generating corresponding testing signals in the memory hub; coupling the corresponding testing signals from the memory hub to the memory devices while varying the relative timing between when the corresponding testing signals are applied to the memory devices over a range of relative timing; generating output signals in the memory devices resulting from the testing signals; coupling the output signals from the memory devices to the memory hub; and evaluating the output signals in the memory hub to determine if the memory devices properly responded to the testing signals.

The prior arts of record do not teach altering the relative timing between corresponding first and second test signals over a range, during the testing of a plurality of memory devices. Claim 36 alters the relative timing between corresponding test signals over a range during a specific test execution. However, prior arts of record teach altering relative timing of signals during different tests and not during a specific test execution and over one particular range of a specific test execution.

For instance, Lin teaches testing a memory device while latching a plurality of testing signals using one two different clocks. However, the timing between two corresponding signals is not altered during a test execution over a range. Further, Nadeau-Dostie teaches a scan test of memory elements in different time domains but the relative timing between two corresponding test signals is not altered over a specific range.

Art Unit: 2117

Hence, the prior arts of record fail to anticipate or render obvious the claimed inventions. Thus claims 1-18, 23-31 and 36-44 are allowable over the prior arts of record.
